HARVEST HOME

Beautiful Services Yesterday at the Third Street M. E. Church

The Harvest Home services at the Third Street M. E. Church yesterday were a decided success in every particular.

The members and friends of this Church regard Harvest Home as one of the best services of the year, and each year seems to improve on the one previous.

This being an especially fruitful year, the decorating committee were able to make a profuse display of the fruit of the field, garden and orchard, and the scheme of decoration was carried out in a very tasteful manner, so that the old Church presented an appearance that would bring a song of joy and praise into the heart of anyone who looked upon it.

To Mr. John Walsh, Chairman of the Committee on Decorations, much praise is due for the plan and success of the decorations.

The services, both morning and evening, were largely attended, by not only the local congregation, but by members from other Churches.

The Pastor, Rev. G. W. Bunton, was at his best, and delivered two of the best sermons of his ministry at these services. The sermons were in harmony with the occasion, and by his earnestness and eloquence he impressed his hearers with many practical points on the law of the harvest and the surety that "whatsoever we sow that shall we also reap."

The chorus choir was at its best and very effectively rendered the beautiful anthems of Praise and Thanksgiving.

Altogether, it was a day that will live in joyful remembrance and every one will be able to more fully appreciate the wonderful and lavish manner with which the Heavenly Father bestows his blessings.

SLICK TRICK

How a Colored Man Attempted to "Work" a Grocer

Something new in the way of beating the unwary out of their hard earned cash turns up every day. The latest development in that line is a dandy, and is liable to work successfully in nine cases out of ten. It is a regular get-rich-quick scheme, and provided you can do the flim-flam act and avoid detection your fortune is in sight.

Some of the great modern inventions of the day have been the result of pure accident, and in this case the fellow who perpetrated the act of "now you see it and now you don't," avows by all that is good that he had no evil intent and that the queer result following the transaction was as much a mystery to him as to the gentleman upon whom it was worked.

One day last week a colored man entered P. Gantley's store in Plum street, walked up to the counter and laying down a paper dollar bill, bought five cents worth of pears, receiving in change ninety-five cents. In a few minutes he called for five cents worth of cigars, at same time offering a silver dollar and requesting Mr. Gantley to return him the paper dollar as he wished to send it away in a letter, and to take the change out of the silver dollar.

After the transaction had been completed and the colored financier gone his way the manipulator of weights and measures began revolving the matter over in his mind. After scratching his head a dozen times and playing a financial game of checkers with his brain his eyes opened to the fact that he had been hoodwinked out of ninety cents in cash.

He was not long in hunting up the Napoleon of finance and demanding the return of his money. At first he denied that there was a mistake in the change received, but when threatened with arrest he dug down in his jeans and forked over the difference. He protested his innocence of any evil design, however.

Miss Lisle Collins, formerly of this city, is now a member of the Delta Sigma Chi at Norwood, Cincinnati.

Jacob Mitchell, colored, who was charged with the murder of Engineer Thomas Fleming at Letonia some time ago, and whose arrest was instigated by officers in this city, was tried last week in the Covington Court and given seven years in the Penitentiary. Mitchell was ably defended by Lawyer John E. Shepard, formerly a student in the Maysville High School and a son of Rev. E. L. Shepard, who at the time was Pastor of the Third Street M. E. Church. The young barrister was complimented by the older members of the Bar for the capable manner in which he handled his case. Mr. Shepard's schoolmates and friends here are very much pleased to note his success in his chosen profession.

Bring the little folks to see the bears.

Two Roosevelt Bears had a home out West in a big ravine near a mountain crest. Where they ate their meals and took their rest, And gathered strength and sunshine and cheer And welcomed friends from far and near. They chopped down trees and hunters dared, And hoisted their ranch and panthers scared, And preached to goats and big horned sheep, And ordered that they the laws should keep. They boxed with chums and umpired strife And generally led a strenuous life. One bear was black and one was gray; Each was good, and neither would say A swear word loud either night or day. In love and learning they were both alike; They could run a motor or hike a bike, Or drive a hansom as good as Mike, Or sit at dinner with the smartest set, Or talk in a 'phone or dance or bet, Or send wireless messages from tree to tree, Or copy the styles like you and me. These things they learned from papers lost By weary travelers as the hills they crossed.

NEAR Cape Hatteras a few days ago a colony of life-preservers and other flotsam came ashore. Some are marked "Caswitz, Rettunysurcer, G. R. P., No. 108,341." Others are stamped "Sealanan." Two bear the name "Smekf." A search among marine records has failed to reveal any names that correspond with those on the life-preservers. Evidently, these things have just made their way through the earth, belonging to the Russian Navy which Admiral Togo started journeying in the Sea of Japan.

The exclusion of Japanese children from the Public Schools of San Francisco is one of the results of the earthquake, which laid low many of the schools and which has resulted in overcrowding. As a consequence of the movement for the segregation of the Japanese pupils from the white, there have been annoying agitations, which will not, in the end, cause the exclusion of the Japanese from the educational opportunities offered by the city. At the request of Ambassador Aoki, Secretary Root will take up with the California school authorities the school question. Assurances have been given the Japanese Ambassador that there is no occasion for the belief that there is a widespread anti-Japanese feeling in the United States. Its existence in California is recognized. But the Government stands ready to enforce the rights of the foreigners, to adjust any reasonable grievances that may be presented. It is not believed that a clear understanding of the subject will permit any serious difficulties to arise between the two Nations.

R. B. LOVELL, THE LEADING GROCER,

Wholesale and Retail.

This is the way Colonel LITTLEJOHN of The Grayson Tribune puts it—

"KEHOE got a Public Building for Maysville, and every man in town except the Postmaster and Janitor is ashamed of it. It is called 'the Maysville Postoffice,' but really it is only the headquarters for the loaders of Plumville, and even the Mail Carriers slip in the back way when entering it."

The Women's Christian Temperance Union is just now reveling in a good sized duck fit because the Order of Rechabites, the oldest temperance organization in the country, favors the restoration of the Canteen at Army Posts. The W. C. T. U. is no doubt a very worthy institution, but its members certainly lack one thing—Common Sense. Their successful fight against the Canteen played squarely into the hands of the liquorites, and they haven't sense enough to see it. Really, it looks very much like the money to make the fight was furnished by the whisky men, as they are the only ones who have profited by its abolition.

THE ACCOMMODATING THIEF.

Judge Landis of the United States District Court, who recently decided that the Zion City funds belonged to the Zionists and not to Dowie himself, told at a dinner in Chicago a good story about a New York detective, says an exchange.

"This detective," he said, "came to Chicago to trace out a crime that the Chicago police had had trouble with. He thought he would succeed easily, but as a matter of fact he failed, though his failure has nothing to do with my story."

"My story concerns the boarding house that the detective put up at. As he came towards the boarding house one evening, worn out with a hard and fruitless day's work hunting clues, he saw a man emerge from the place cautiously, with a great bundle of coats, overcoats and trousers on his back."

"This man was a thief, though the detective did not know it. Still he suspected something, and he said, 'What have you there?'"

"'Closest to be pressed, sir,' the thief answered. 'I'm from the tailor's on the next block.'"

"'Ah, I see,' said the detective. 'Take my overcoat, too.'"

"'Certainly, sir,' said the accommodating thief, and he took it and hurried off."

All differences existing between the coal operators and Union miners of Illinois have been settled. The contention was the fine of $500,000 which the operators wanted the workmen to pay because they refused to work on Virden Day, October 12th, the anniversary of the riots at that place in 1893. After a lengthy discussion the operators decided not to impose the fine.

A French physician has invented a method by which he says iron can be given in large doses. Hence, he noticed, have powerful internal organs. They can digest considerable quantities of iron, and then render it back, through the albumen of their eggs, in a form which is easily digested by the weaker stomach of mankind. So he feeds his hens with what he calls a "very absorbant salt of iron," mingled with grains of wheat, and they lay eggs extremely rich in iron already digested.

Some one has figured that the American hen each year earns enough to buy all the silver and gold dug out of the mines, all the sheep in the country and their wool, and leave a balance equal to the entire year's crop of rye, barley, buckwheat and potatoes. Or, as a hen enthusiast writes, "she pays the interest on all the farm mortgages, pays the entire state and county taxes of the whole Union, and then leaves a balance large enough to give every man, woman and child in the United States a dollar."

WHO SHE WAS

SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF LYDIA E. PINKHAM

And a True Story of How the Vegetable Compound Had Its Birth and How the "Panic of '73" Caused it to be Offered for Public Sale in Drug Stores.

This remarkable woman, whose maiden name was Estes, was born in Lynn, Mass., February 9th, 1819, coming from a good old Quaker family. For some years she taught school, and became known as a woman of an alert and investigating mind, an earnest seeker after knowledge, and above all, possessed of a wonderfully sympathetic nature.

In 1843 she married Isaac Pinkham, a builder and real estate operator, and their early married life was marked by prosperity and happiness. They had four children, three sons and a daughter.

In those good old fashioned days it was common for mothers to make their own home medicines from roots and herbs, nature's own remedies—calling in a physician only in specially urgent cases. By tradition and experience many of them gained a wonderful knowledge of the curative properties of the various roots and herbs.

Mrs. Pinkham took a great interest in the study of roots and herbs, their characteristics and power over disease. She maintained that just as nature so bountifully provides in the harvest fields and orchards vegetable foods of all kinds; so, if we but take the pains to find them, in the roots and herbs of the field there are remedies expressly designed to cure the various ills and weaknesses of the body, and it was her pleasure to search these out, and prepare simple and effective medicines for her own family and friends.

Chief of these was a rare combination of the choicest medicinal roots and herbs found best adapted for the cure of the ills and weaknesses peculiar to the female sex, and Lydia E. Pinkham's friends and neighbors learned that her compound relieved and cured and it became quite popular among them.

All this so far was done freely, without money and without price, as a labor of love.

But in 1873 the financial crisis struck Lynn. Its length and severity were too much for the large real estate interests of the Pinkham family, as this class of business suffered most from fearful depression, so when the Centennial year dawned it found their property swept away. Some other source of income had to be found.

At this point Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was made known to the world.

The three sons and the daughter, with their mother, combined forces to restore the family fortune. They argued that the medicine which was so good for their woman friends and neighbors was equally good for the women of the whole world.

The Pinkhams had no money, and little credit. Their first laboratory was the kitchen, where roots and herbs were steeped on the stove, gradually filling a gross of bottles. Then came the question of selling it, for always before they had given it away freely. They hired a job printer to run off some pamphlets setting forth the merits of the medicine, now called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and these were distributed by the Pinkham sons in Boston, New York, and Brooklyn.

The wonderful curative properties of the medicine were, to a great extent, self-advertising, for whoever used it recommended it to others, and the demand gradually increased.

In 1877, by combined efforts the family had saved enough money to commence newspaper advertising and from that time the growth and success of the enterprise were assured, until today Lydia E. Pinkham and her Vegetable Compound have become household words everywhere, and many tons of roots and herbs are used annually in its manufacture.

Lydia E. Pinkham herself did not live to see the great success of this work. She passed to her reward years ago, but not till she had provided means for continuing her work as effectively as she could have done it herself.

During her long and eventful experience she was ever methodical in her work and she was always careful to preserve a record of every case that came to her attention. The case of every sick woman who applied to her for advice—and there were thousands—received careful study, and the details, including symptoms, treatment and results were recorded for future reference, and to-day these records, together with hundreds of thousands made since, are available to sick women the world over, and represent a vast collaboration of information regarding the treatment of woman's ills, which for authenticity and accuracy can hardly be equalled in any library in the world.

With Lydia E. Pinkham worked her daughter-in-law, the present Mrs. Pinkham. She was carefully instructed in all her hard-won knowledge, and for years she assisted her in her vast correspondence.

To her hands naturally fell the direction of the work when its original passed away. For nearly twenty-five years she has continued it, and nothing in the work shows when the first Lydia E. Pinkham dropped her pen, and the present Mrs. Pinkham, now the mother of a large family, took it up. With women assistants, some as capable as herself, the present Mrs. Pinkham continues this great work, and probably from the office of no other person have so many women been advised how to regain health. Sick women, this advice is "Yours for Health," freely given if you only write to ask for it.

Such is the history of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; made from simple roots and herbs; the one great medicine for women's ailments, and the fitting monument to the noble woman whose name it bears.

The state of California, which has within its borders over 28,000,000 acres of forest, is taking steps permanently to preserve practically the whole amount. California's forests are looked upon not only as a great wood supply, they are far more valuable as a medium of water conservation.

None of the husbands were aware of the existence of the others until they all met by chance at a holiday dance on the East Side.

Two years ago it was purchased by the Harvard College Observatory, which proceeded at once to mount it on the observatory grounds at Cambridge.

HERE AT HOME.

Maysville Citizens Gladly Testify and Confidently Recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.

It is testimony like the following that has placed "the old Quaker Remedy" so far above competitors. When people right here at home raise their voice in praise there is no room left for doubt. Read the public statement of a Maysville citizen:

Henry Bertram, shoemaker, of 27 East Third street, Maysville, Ky., says:

"I believe everybody in Maysville has read in the papers the testimony I gave in March, 1900, about Doan's Kidney Pills, for I have been asked again and again by residents of this town if that statement were true. For the benefit of persons who may now be suffering from forms of kidney trouble I repeat my testimony. Before I got Doan's Kidney Pills at J. Jas. Wood & Co.'s Drugstore I had suffered for some time with backache and a tired feeling and having aching in and about the kidneys. Being a shoemaker I thought my trouble was caused by my work, for every time I took a cold it settled in my back, but Doan's Kidney Pills quickly rid me of the trouble, and never from that time to this have I had any cause to complain of my back or kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills perform exactly what they promise, and to be honest with you, I will say that in my opinion there is no remedy for kidney disorders equal to Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box.
